EDGE Group Launches Video Calibration Certification Events

National Training and Certification Program to be Co-Sponsored by The EDGE Group, Sencore, NuVision and NEC

San Leandro, CA, Feb. 22, 2006 – The EDGE Distributors Group™, a nationwide coalition of consumer electronics distributors serving the custom installation and retail markets, has announced the launch of its Video Calibration Certification program, a new addition to the group's expanding education focus for custom installation and electronics dealers. The program will officially kick-off Saturday, March 1st at EH Expo in Orlando, FL.

The Video Calibration Certification program, jointly sponsored by Sencore, NEC and NuVision, will take place in EDGE territories throughout 2006. Through these courses dealers will have an opportunity to learn valuable video calibration skills, as well as critical technical information necessary to properly calibrate LCD and Plasma TVs, and special prices will be offered for the equipment required. The first event in the series, held in Van Nuys, CA at Rolls Electronics, was a sell-out, drawing nearly 50 pre-registered attendees.

“We’re excited at the opportunity to offer our dealers valuable training in this important area. It is a great opportunity for our dealers to learn a skill that provides a real customer benefit and can add to their profit. The EDGE Distributors Group believes that high-quality dealer training is of the utmost importance,” said Mike Hench, President of The EDGE Group. “It is central to our efforts to support our dealers in the installation and integration of the high-tech products we offer.”

Dealers may register for the Video Calibration Certification program by contacting their local EDGE Group member (www.edgegroup.org), by calling 866-396-6531 or via email to katye.s@edgegroup.org.
